TOP NEWS

20 Firms Show How To Win Big And Do Good
Twenty law firms showed the same passion for taking on hard cases and scoring victories in pro bono matters as they displayed for corporate clients over the past year, while also dedicating a large number of hours to those in need, earning them a spot among Law360's Pro Bono Firms of 2015.

Law360 Pro Bono All Stars Show Dedication To Helping Others
A select group of law firms have demonstrated exceptionally stalwart commitment to pro bono work year after year, dedicating substantial resources over the past half-decade to impactful cases crucial to the public good, earning a spot on Law360's 2015 list of Pro Bono All Stars.

LA Stadium's Enviro Strategy Has Risks, Says Rival Atty
The team behind the proposed $1.7 billion Los Angeles County football stadium is taking a largely untested legal road with its approach to environmental review issues, while its rival project in San Diego takes a safer route, contended San Diego City Attorney Jan Goldsmith on Friday.

Jay Z's Roc Nation Says Dez Bryant Claims Lack Texas Link
Jay Z's Roc Nation LLC on Friday fired back at Official Brands Inc., doubling down on claims that the sports marketing firm failed to make direct allegations in its suit accusing Roc Nation of poaching star Dallas Cowboys wide receiver Dez Bryant from its roster and arguing a Texas federal court lacks jurisdiction as a result.

Jury Slaps Dominick's With $8.9M Verdict For Jordan Ad
An Illinois federal jury decided Friday that former Chicago-area grocer Dominick's Finer Foods LLC will have to pay basketball legend Michael Jordan $8.9 million for the unauthorized use of his image in a 2009 Sports Illustrated ad.

Account Manager Tools

If you are your organization's Law360 account manager, you have control of account settings and newsletter subscriptions for your organization and all designated users under the account.

On the My Account page, you can manage users for your organization, add or delete newsletter subscriptions, manage news and case alerts (Platform subscription required), set up PACER credentials for document downloads (Platform subscription required), and more.

A screenshot of the 'My Account' page in the Law360 account manager. The page title is 'My Account'. Below the title, it shows 'Currently signed in as: lawyer@law360.com'. There are several menu items: 'Change My Password', 'My Feeds and Alerts', 'Newsletter Signup', and 'Logout'. Below these are sections for 'Law360 - The Portfolio Media Brand Account Information' (Domains: law360.com) and 'Law360 - The Portfolio Media Brand Account Management'. Under the management section, there are links for 'My Feeds and Alerts', 'View Subscriptions', 'Manage Users', 'Manage Newsletters', 'Manage PACER Credentials', and 'View Document Download History'. Three callout boxes provide details for these links: 'SUBSCRIPTIONS' (Check your Law360 subscription status, including expiration date.), 'MANAGE USERS' (View all assigned users for your account, and edit, add, or remove users as needed. You can also export or import users via CSV file.), and 'MANAGE NEWSLETTERS' (View which newsletters your users are receiving, and add or delete newsletter subscriptions as necessary.). At the bottom, three red callout boxes provide details for 'View Document Download History': 'DOWNLOAD HISTORY' (See what PACER documents your users have downloaded through Law360 Platform Tools.), 'PACER' (Add your PACER login details and allow your users to access many PACER filings directly through Law360.), and 'MANAGE NEWSLETTERS' (View which newsletters your users are receiving, and add or delete newsletter subscriptions as necessary.).
