Part 2

Landing Page Search & Quick Search

"Landing Page Search", also known as "Quick Search", is a good starting point of your research. You can start with keywords. If you are unsure of which keywords to use or if you are searching unfamiliar terminology. This function supports natural language searching. You can enter non-technical, conversational language (e.g., " can injury from fights at work be identified as occupational injury? ") and the search engine will search in titles and full text documents after conducting semantic analysis.

I. Landing Page Search

A single input box is provided for “Landing Page Search”. The search engine will simultaneously search for your keywords in titles, full text documents and other available fields.

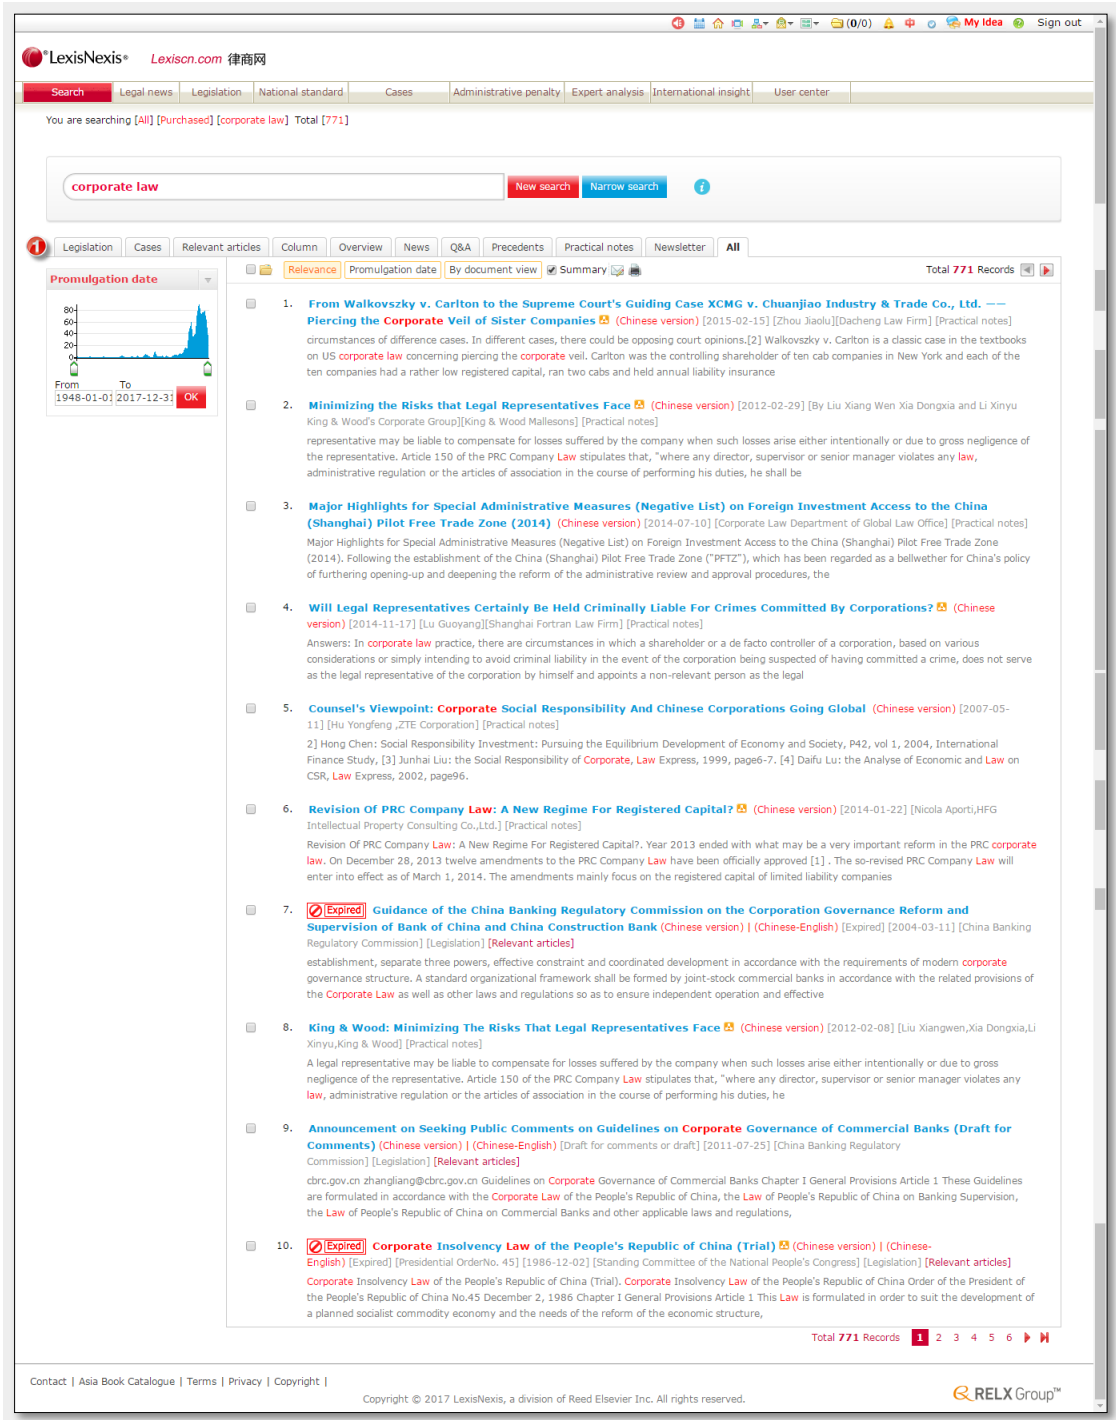

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis China website landing page. At the top, there is a search bar with the placeholder text "Enter your keywords to search" and a "Search" button. A red arrow points to the search bar. Below the search bar, there is a notification banner about a planned maintenance and upgrading of the Lexis China website from 08:00 on April 29 to 08:00 on April 30 China time. The main content area is divided into several sections:

II. Quick Search

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis Lexiscn.com homepage. At the top, there is a search bar with the text "Enter your keywords to search" and a red "Search" button. To the right of the search bar are social media icons for WeChat, Apple, and Android. Below the search bar, a notification banner states: "Kindly please be informed that there is a planned maintenance and upgrading on Lexis China website from 08:00 on April 29 to 08:00 on April 30 China time. It may impact on Lexis China service during this time and you can continue using Lexis China service site after maintenance. Thank you for your understanding." On the left side, there is a navigation menu under "All products" with a sub-section "Purchased" containing "Lexis China" (highlighted with a red box), "IP", "Employment", "Corporate", "Tax", "Investment", "Energy", "Financing", "M&A", and "CDR". The main content area features a "Hot Topic" section with several articles, including "Compliance Manual of Insurance ...", "Commercial Bribery", "Approval and Qualification ...", "First Green Tax Law for ...", "The Catalogue & 'Negative List'...", and "Farewell to the 'Comprehensive ...'". At the bottom, there is an "Industry Category Customization" section with a dropdown menu set to "Pharmaceuticals and Biotechnology" and a "Re-Customization" button.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis Lexiscn.com search results page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with tabs for "Search" (highlighted with a red box), "Legal news", "Legislation", "National standard", "Cases", "Administrative penalty", "Expert analysis", "International insight", and "User center". Below the navigation bar, the current path is "Home >> Legislation >> Laws". The main content area is titled "Laws & regulations minimal search" and includes a search bar with a "Search" button and a "filter: Select..." dropdown. Below the search bar, there are input fields for "Article ID" and "Promulgation date". The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column is titled "Find a legal subject" and contains a list of legal subjects with brief descriptions, including "Constitutional & National Law", "Civil Law", "Criminal Law & Criminal Action", "Securities & Futures Law", "Civil Procedure Law", "Company Law", "Insurance Law", "Tax Law", "Business Administration Law", "Intellectual Property Law", "Administrative Law", "Banking Law", "Finance & Accounting Law", and "Market Competition Law". The right column is titled "Subjects recently researched" and contains a list of subjects, including "Tax Law", "Trade Law", "Press & Publication Law", "Diplomacy & Foreign Affairs", "Resources Law", "Banking Law", and "Constitutional & National Law".

III. Functionality

A single input box is provided for "Quick Search". The search engine will simultaneously search for your keywords in titles, full text documents and other available fields. The content type "Laws and Regulations" is the default subject matter. You may also choose from several other content types ① for your search. Accessibility options are available to help pinpoint the contents you are searching for.

1) Click on the three connector buttons ② to the right of the input box, ie. "AND|++|", "OR|--" and "NOT|!" to connect several keywords (please refer to "Use of Connectors" for details of their operation).

2) You can search for a specific keyword by adding double quotation marks (in either Chinese or English input modes) ③ before and after the target keyword.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis search interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with tabs for "Search", "Legal news", "Legislation", "National standard", "Cases", "Administrative penalty", and "Expert analysis". Below this is a "Content types" section with a red circle ① next to the "Legislation" checkbox, which is checked. Other checkboxes include "National standard", "Legal news", "Cases", "Administrative Penalty", "Newsletters", "Expert analysis", "Lexis newsletters", "Foreign laws", and "Search all". Below the content types is a search input field with a red circle ③ next to it, containing the text "LexisNexis". To the right of the input field is a dropdown menu set to "All fields" and a red "Submit" button with a red circle ② next to it. Below the input field are three connector buttons: "AND |++|", "OR |--", and "NOT |!| ?".

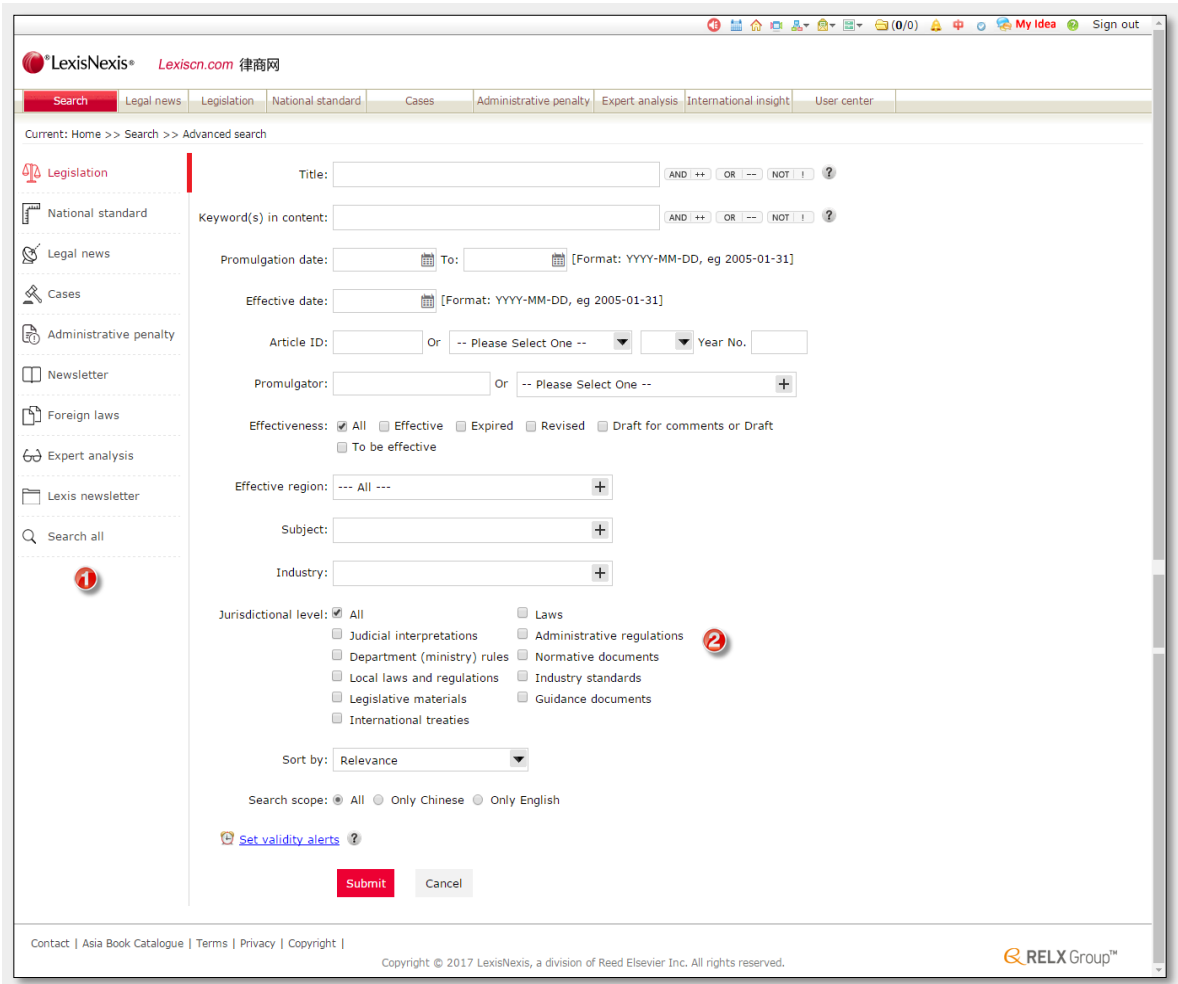

Part 3

Advanced (Accurate) Search

"Advanced Search", also known as "Accurate Search", provides you with more search options. For example, if you know the specific document number, or you know part of the name of the promulgator when searching for a regulation, you can use "Advanced Search" to pinpoint your target document quickly and accurately.

I. Functionality

III. Sort the Results

You can sort the results according to Relevance, Promulgation date, Jurisdiction level and By document view (count). Relevance is by default.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis search interface. At the top, the search bar contains "individual income tax" with "New search" and "Narrow search" buttons. Below the search bar, there are tabs for "Legislation", "Cases", "Relevant articles", "Overview", "News", "Q&A", "Precedents", "Practical notes", "Newsletter", and "All". The "Legislation" tab is selected.

On the left side, there are search filters: "Search filter" (with options for Intellectual Property, Law, NATIONAL, and Normative documents) and "Promulgation date" (with a date range from 2004-01-01 to 2016-12-31).

At the top of the results area, there are sorting options: "Relevance" (selected), "Promulgation date", "Jurisdictional level", and "By document view". There is also a "Summary" button and a "Total 5 Records" indicator.

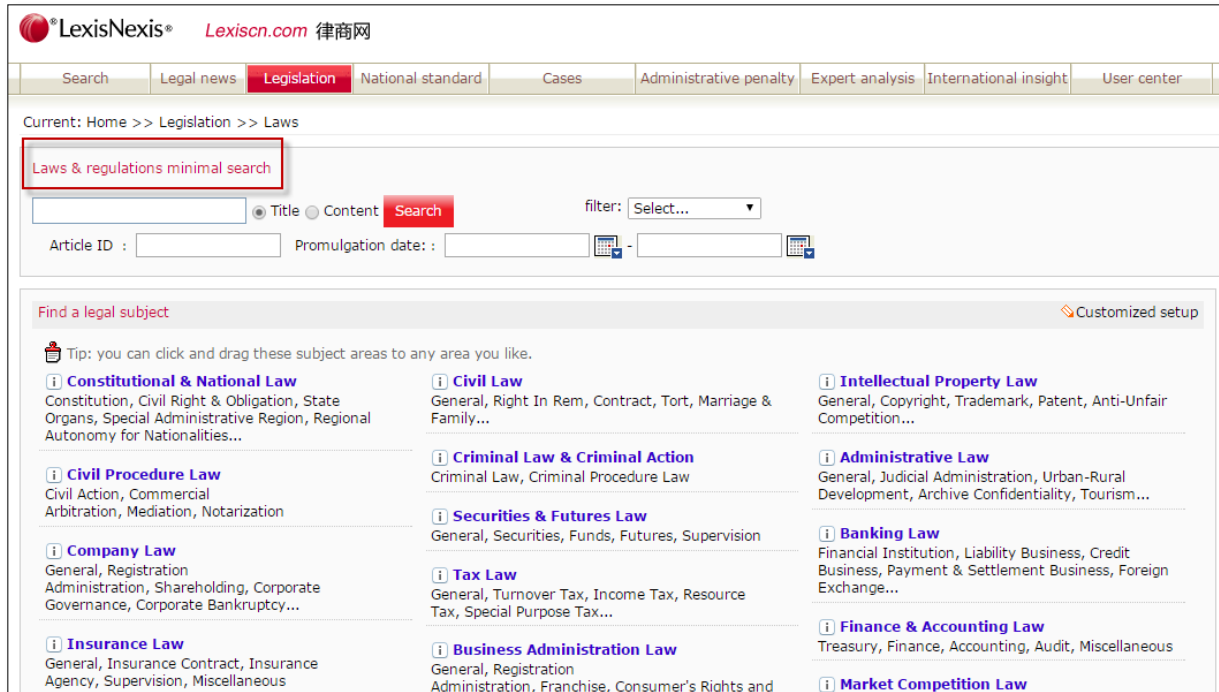

The search results are displayed as a list of two items:

- Circular on Promoting the Pilot Tax Policies of National Independent Innovation Demonstration Zones Nationwide (Chinese version) (Chinese-English) [Effective] [Cai Shui 2015 No. 116] [2015-10-23] [State Administration of Taxation; Ministry of Finance] [Legislation] [Relevant articles]

Minimum Custom Search

The "Minimum Custom Search" contains several pre-set terms useful for searching laws and regulations.

If the pre-set terms don't retrieve the results you need, you can switch to "Advanced Search" or further customize your search using the "Filter Terms" list. Click on the corresponding option in the drop-down list to customize your search terms in the "Minimum Custom Search" page. If you would like to remove the customized terms, you may reselect from the options in the drop-down list or click on the red "X" following the corresponding terms.

Part 5

Use of Connectors

"Advanced Search", also known as "Accurate Search", provides you with more search options. For example, if you know the specific document number, or you know part of the name of the promulgator when searching for a regulation, you can use "Advanced Search" to pinpoint your target document quickly and accurately.

I. Overview

Search connectors may be used in both Quick Search and Advanced Search.

(1) You can use any of the AND/++, OR/-- or NOT/! buttons to connect the keywords in your search, or key in "AND" or "++", "OR" or "--", "NOT" or "!" to connect the keywords. For example, if you input "foreign investment AND/++ income tax", you will find results which contain both "foreign investment" and "income tax". Please note that one blank space (under DBC case) both before and after the connectors will automatically be added if you use the connector buttons; if you key in the connectors, you should input the extra blanks manually. Connectors such as AND, OR or NOT should be typed in upper case.

(2) You can also use a blank to connect several keywords. For example, if you input a blank between "foreign investment" and "income tax", which means the same as "foreign investment AND/++ income tax", you will find results which contain both "foreign investment" and "income tax".

(3) If you have several keywords, you can use the connectors for many times. For example, "foreign investment ++ income tax ++ enterprise". However, you cannot use different connectors to connect different keywords. For example, "foreign investment -- income tax ++ enterprise" is a wrong use.

You can click on the corresponding buttons to add connectors in the input boxes.  ,

II. Basic Use of Search Connectors

Select your search terms (a single term or a combination of terms), add them to the form according to the table below and start your search.

Search Method	Connectors	Examples	Applicable Scope
Search by a single term		If you are searching for contents relevant to inheritance tax, enter "inheritance tax" in the Content input box to find all documents with "inheritance tax" in the text.	Search for a specific target word or phrase
Search for two terms	"Term 1□++□Term 2" or "Term 1□AND□Term 2" or Term 1□Term 2	If you are searching for the contents relevant to interest tax relevant to foreigners, enter "foreign□++□interest" in the Content input box to find all documents which contain both "foreign" and "interest". Click on the title to view the full text.	Search for titles, contents, promulgating dates, promulgators or document numbers
Search for either term	"Term 1□--□Term 2" or "Term 1□OR□Term 2"	Enter "foreign□--□interest" in the Content input box to find the documents which contain either "foreign" or "interest".	Search for titles, contents, promulgating dates, promulgators or document numbers.
Search for a combination of terms	Freely select and combine the terms	If you are searching for the content on income tax relevant to foreigners, you may enter "income tax" in the Title input box and "foreigner" in the Content input box. This will locate documents which contain "foreigner" somewhere in the text and "income tax" in the title.	Accurate search for target results
Search by exclusive terms	"Term 1□!□Term 2" or "Term 11□NOT□Term 2"	Find documents containing Term 1 but excluding Term 2	For refining search results by excluding known unwanted results

Part 6

User Center

I. Auto Search

Using "Auto Search", you can save search terms which you set using an advanced search.

LNC will automatically search for new content matching these terms on a regular basis and send such contents to you via email.

To save search terms from an advanced search, click "Envelope Tab/Auto Research Setup" towards the upper right of the advanced research results page (shown below).

You will be directed to the "Auto Search" interface in the "User Center". You can set up to 10 email addresses for each auto search. Updates can be sent via Auto Search Email on a daily basis.

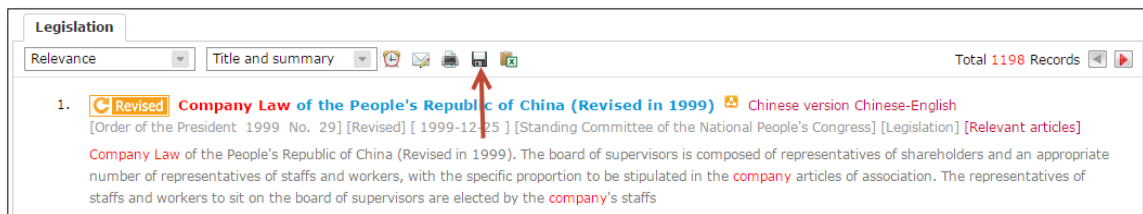

II. My favorites

“My Favorites” includes the search terms you have saved (My Searches), the documents you are interested in (My Documents) and a record of English translation you have ordered (My Translation Orders).

1. “My Searches”

Include all the search terms which you have saved in course of advanced or quick searching, i.e. the search terms which have saved by clicking “Save Search” on the advanced search results page or the quick search results page (shown below).

The search terms will be saved in the “My Searches” list under “My Favorites” in the User Center.

Three functions, including “Run”, “Edit” and “Setting Auto Search” are available in the “My Searches” page. Click on “Run” (shown below ①) to instantly run these search terms.

Edit(shown below ②): Click on “Edit” to edit the recorded search terms for future searches. Please note that the search terms cannot be edited if they were saved via Quick Search.

“Setting Auto Search” (shown below ③): Click on “Setting Auto Search” to save the results as an alert.

2. “My Documents”

My documents displays links to articles you have selected and saved. You can select and save articles displayed in your search results by using the check boxes and clicking the “Portfolio” button (shown below), or click the “Portfolio” button while viewing any particular article.

When saving documents, you can place them into selected folders or you can create a new folder and save your documents there.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis interface with a 'Save File' dialog box open. The dialog box has a 'Folder' section with a 'New folder' button and a 'Save' button. The background shows a table of 'Company Law of the People's Republic of China (Revised in 1999) List of Referential Versions'.

III. History

The “History” tool automatically records your searches (Search Parameter Record) and the articles you have viewed (Document Record).

“Search Parameter Record”: Automatically records the latest 100 terms you have searched for. You can directly run these search terms or edit them in the “Searched Terms Record” page for a new search.

“Document Record”: Automatically records the latest 100 documents recently retrieved. You may click on the title of any document to view the full text.

IV. Customized Setup

“Customized Setup” offers several custom options. The functionality is only available for ID users (you cannot use it if your account is IP fixed).

Default Landing Page: Please select from below columns as of landing page after log into Lexis China

Search Personalization: You can select default sort-by for search result and display mode for advanced search results for legislation etc.

Subject Setting: In this page, you can select any subject to be displayed on legislation landing page, and set those display order from left to right.

Newsletter subscription: You may subscribe any of the LNC E-newsletters.

Alerts Setup: You can use “Quick Alert Setup” to subscribe to updated information in certain categories, or use “Validity Alerts” to subscribe to alerts on changes in validity of laws and regulations.

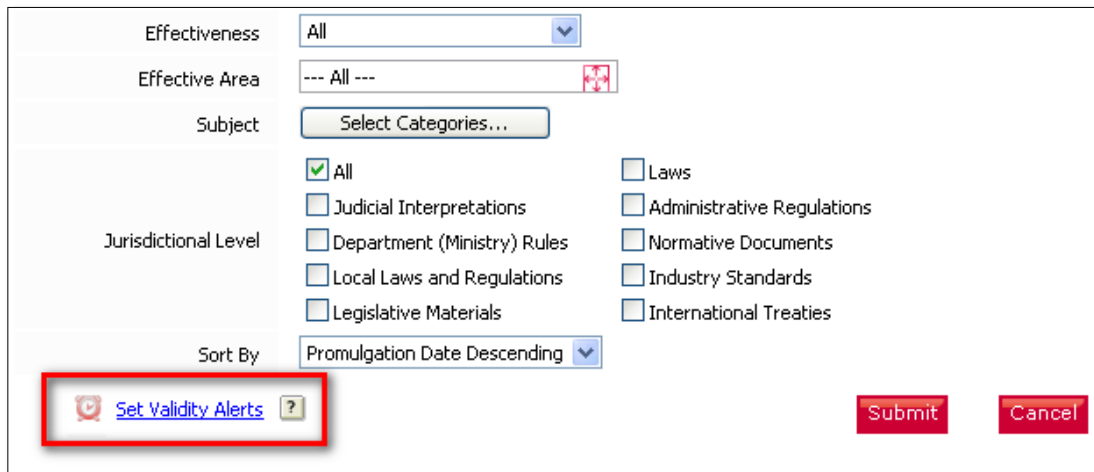

Restore Defaults: Restore the original setup.

V. Validity Alerts

If you would like to receive an email reminder when the validity of any law or regulation changes, you can set up such a reminder using the following steps:

Option 1:

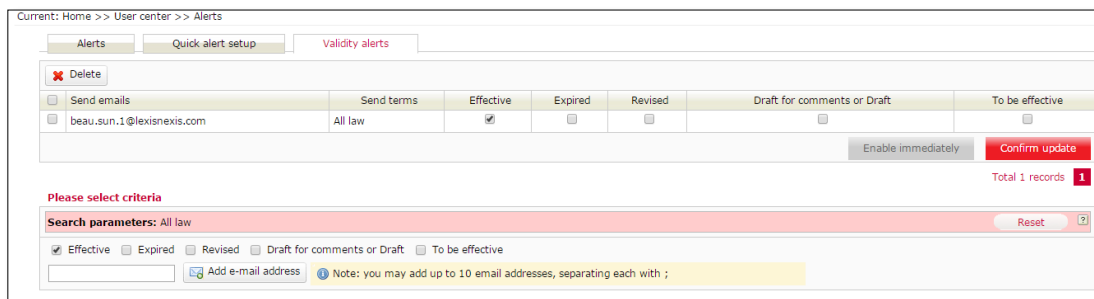

Step 1: After landing on the Advanced Search page for laws and regulations, set up the desired search terms and click on “Validity Alerts”;

The screenshot shows a search filter interface with the following elements:

- Effectiveness: All (dropdown)
- Effective Area: --- All --- (dropdown)
- Subject: Select Categories... (button)
- Jurisdictional Level:
 - All
 - Judicial Interpretations
 - Department (Ministry) Rules
 - Local Laws and Regulations
 - Legislative Materials
 - Laws
 - Administrative Regulations
 - Normative Documents
 - Industry Standards
 - International Treaties
- Sort By: Promulgation Date Descending (dropdown)
- Set Validity Alerts (button, highlighted with a red box)
- Submit (button)
- Cancel (button)

Step 2: The page will switch to the Validity Alerts page within the User Center. Select the desired types of validity (for example, “Effective”, “Expired”, “Revised” etc.; multiple choices are available) and fill in the recipient’s email address. You can enter up to 10 email addresses: separate each with a semicolon when in English input mode.

The screenshot shows the Validity Alerts page with the following elements:

- Current: Home >> User center >> Alerts
- Alerts | Quick alert setup | Validity alerts
- Delete (button)
- Table:

Send emails	Send terms	Effective	Expired	Revised	Draft for comments or Draft	To be effective
<input type="checkbox"/>	beau.sun.1@lexisnexis.com	All law	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
- Enable immediately (button)
- Confirm update (button)
- Total 1 records 1
- Please select criteria
- Search parameters: All law (dropdown)
- Reset (button)
- Effective Expired Revised Draft for comments or Draft To be effective
- Add e-mail address (button)
- Note: you may add up to 10 email addresses, separating each with ;

Finally, click “Add E-mail Address” to finish setting up your Validity Alert. Now, when there is a change to the validity of any law or regulation within the terms and validity types that you have set up, the system will send you an email notification on this basis.

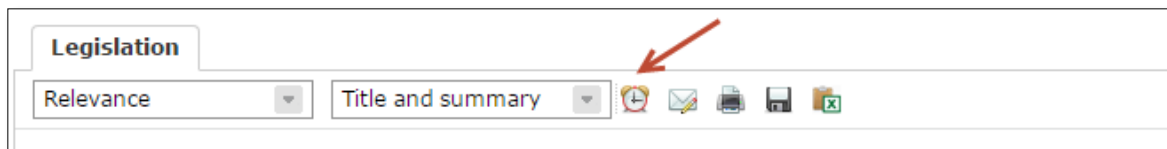

If you want to change the search terms in your validity alert, you can click the “Reset” button to reset the terms. You can also choose to “Delete” them, in which case your search terms will be expanded to cover all laws and regulations, meaning that you will receive validity alerts for all laws and regulations.

Option 2:

Enter the User Center and navigate to Alerts > Validity Alerts. Here, the default scope is all laws and regulations. You can click on “Reset” to set up more refined search terms.

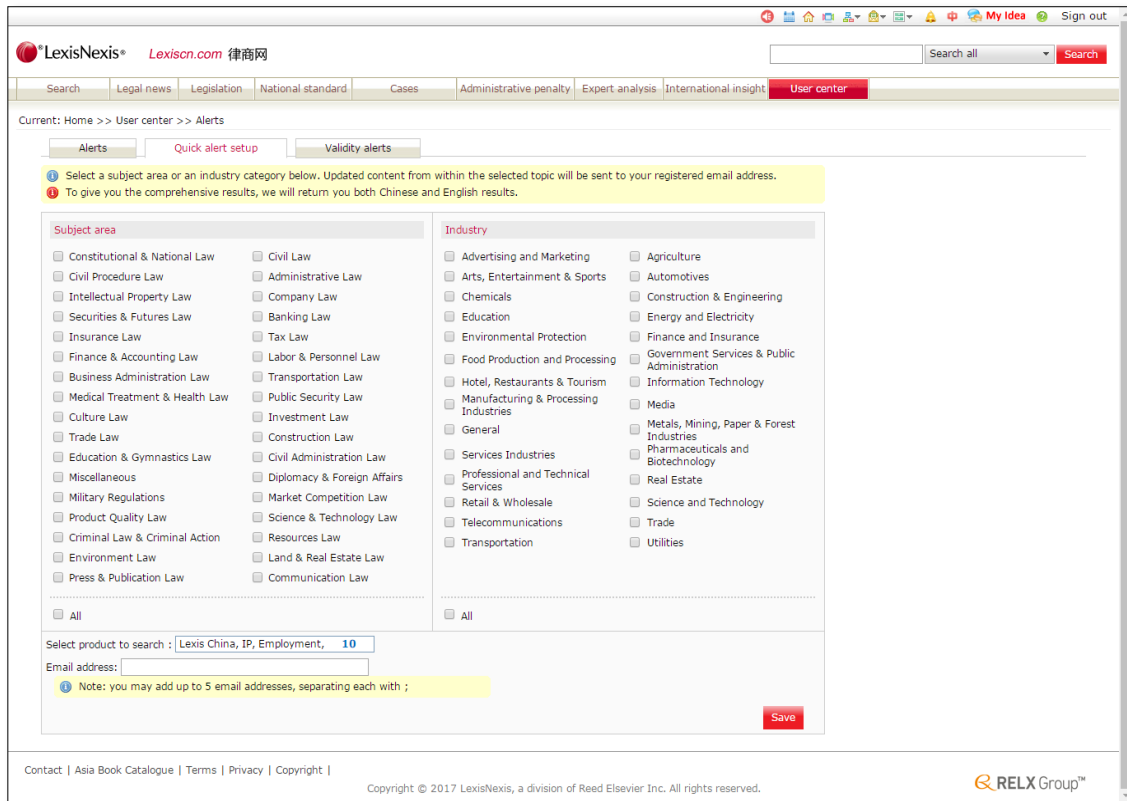

Option 3:

Click on “Clock sign/Validity Alerts” on the search results page. You can then record your search terms as a validity alert. When using this option you also need to complete the setup process by following Step 2 of Option I, explained above.

VI. Quick Alert Set Up

The “Quick Alert Set Up” feature is available for ID users and accessible via the User Center. You can use this to select legal areas or industries you are interested in and set up alerts on those. When there is any content update relating to those legal areas or industries, you will receive an email alert.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis user interface for setting up alerts. The page title is "LexisNexis Lexisn.com 律商网". The navigation menu includes "Search", "Legal news", "Legislation", "National standard", "Cases", "Administrative penalty", "Expert analysis", "International insight", and "User center". The current page is "Alerts" under "User center >> Alerts".

There are three tabs: "Alerts", "Quick alert setup", and "Validity alerts". The "Quick alert setup" tab is active. A yellow banner contains the following instructions:

- Select a subject area or an industry category below. Updated content from within the selected topic will be sent to your registered email address.
- To give you the comprehensive results, we will return you both Chinese and English results.

The interface is divided into two main columns: "Subject area" and "Industry". Each column contains a list of categories with checkboxes for selection.

Subject area categories:

II. Selected Term Auto-search

You can select words or phrases with your mouse when viewing a document in order to auto-search those terms. The system will search for the selected words or phrases across the whole database and return the five most relevant results (shown below).

The screenshot shows a document with several articles. The phrase "established in accordance" is highlighted in blue. A search results popup is overlaid on the right side of the document. The popup has a title bar with "Sort: Relevance", "Promulgation date", and "Document view". Below the title bar, it says "Results for: established in accordance" and "disable this function". The results list includes:

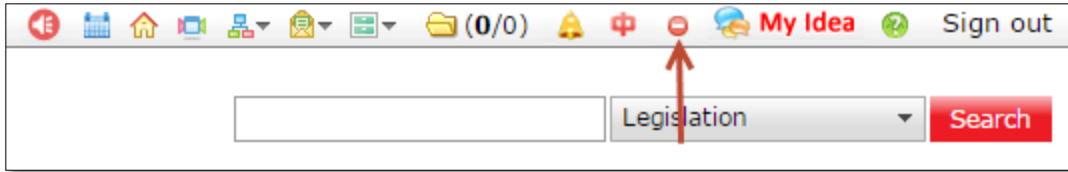

- ▶ Decision of the State Council on Establishing Administrative License for Administrative Examination and Approval Items that Must Be Retained [2004-06-29]
- ▶ established by laws and administrative regulations shall continue to be implemented, in accordance with the law. As for the establishment of regulatory documents, other than laws and

At the bottom right of the popup, there is a "More..." link.

Click directly on titles in the search results to view that content; or click on “More” to view all the search results.

To disable selected term auto-search:

Click on “Disable Sign” at the top of the page (shown below).

To enable selected term auto-search:

Click on “Enable Sign” at the top of the page to re-enable the functionality.
