

Changes Coming To The Landscape Post Midterms

There is likely to be increased scrutiny on the relationships between banks and FinTech companies in 2019. You need to get ahead of these issues now so your clients are ready for the potential changes.

Get expert analysis and practical guidance for Banks and FinTech below:

FinTech Companies And Bank Charters: Options And Considerations For 2018, 2018 Banking Law Journal 4.03

EXPERT ANALYSIS: Are You Ready For Your Congressional Investigation?

LEXIS PRACTICE ADVISOR: Bank Partnerships with FinTech Companies

Banks Sharing Data With FinTech

"One of the big issues in the financial services world, particularly as you grapple with nonbanks providing services to consumers that help them reduce the cost of services from banks, is making sure those providers can get access to data to arm consumers with better information," Brown said. "Maybe that's an issue that could command majorities in both the House and Senate and get a presidential signature." What Banks Can Expect Now That The US House Has Flipped, Law360, November 6, 2018.