

LexisNexis® offers a substantial collection of Native American Law materials including tribal constitutions, codes, treaties, court opinions and other primary and secondary legal materials.

This collection is expanding with new materials and information from cases and codes to Continuing Legal Education (CLE) classes and breaking legal news in the Native American legal community.

Mastering the basics

Delve into decades of decisions from 1969 to present. Access tribal court cases from 45 courts, covering more than 30 different tribes. Review tribal codes, constitutions, and court rules that are also part of the LexisNexis collection.

Only LexisNexis brings you Title 25 (and the rest of the U.S. Code) in a format that is fully annotated and Shepardized. Follow commentary on the American Indian Probate Reform Act and other key legislation with Shepard's alerts. Access the complete Congressional Record from 1789.

The LexisNexis collection also includes:

- State and federal case law involving Native American persons from all 50 states, including archived versions
- IBIA decisions from 1969
- Executive agency regulations and guidance, including Presidential Proclamations and

Executive Orders Pertaining to Native American People and the Nevada Gaming Commission and State Gaming Control Board Regulations

- Federal register archives dating to its inception
- The Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) annotated with decisions from over 200 different courts from 1964 to present, as well as references to secondary source materials
- *COMING SOON* LexisNexis Native American Law Reporter

CLE

Timely, relevant interactive modules are designed for the Web to engage the user and enhance their user experience. Available 24/7, 2015 Lexis® CLE courses relevant to Native American law include:

- Gaming
- Jurisdictional Issues
- Water and Land Rights

Trend spotting

- Set up unlimited alerts on Lexis Advance including by citation (25 USCS §450), by publication (Cohen's), and by topic (Water Rights).
- Take a deep dive into analytical materials including:
  - The American Indian Law Review
  - Emerging Issue Analysis
  - American Jurisprudence
  - Exclusive Matthew Bender titles on Environmental Law, Oil & Gas Leases, and more.
- Access the new Mealey's Native American Litigation monthly--The premier provider of litigation news for more than a quarter century, Mealey's provides unbiased coverage of legally significant developments that can inform your strategies and tactics.
- *COMING SOON* Law 360 Native American Law Daily. Law 360 provides expert analysis of breaking news and leverages a combination of real-time alerts and daily newsletters to place that expertise at your fingertips as the story unfolds.

Pulling it all together

Only Lexis offers you Cohen's on Indian Law. The first resource to show how hundreds of years of diverse treaties, statutes, and decisions formed a comprehensive whole, this encyclopedic treatise is the definitive guide to federal Indian Law.

*COMING SOON* Native American Practice Page on Lexis Advance

The Native American Practice Page on Lexis Advance will be the practitioner's single point of access for their Native American-specific legal research, practical guidance, and current awareness. Built for attorneys by attorneys, it will provide quick and easy access to specific content, including:

- Up-to-date primary legal sources (cases, codes and regulations)
- Authoritative analysis, practical guidance and expert commentary from market leading Matthew Bender treatises
- Daily news headlines provided by Law360, as well as other important news sources

For additional information contact your LexisNexis Representative or Customer Service 24/7 at 1-800-543-6862.

@LexisNexisGov